noodle vase

by gast studio

€240*

a vase with a shape no one drew: a single very long noodle released into a physics simulation and left to coil, fold and pile onto itself until it found its own form — one unbroken gesture frozen mid-motion, made in resin and hand painted. 14 × 14 × 25 cm. a waterproof insert hidden inside the loops holds water and stems, so the open form works as a flower vase. made in amsterdam by gast studio, in yellow, pink and green. open edition, made in batches; when a batch is out, the next takes two to three weeks. red and orange can be made on request.
