hand-built stoneware vase

€175*

a small vase in a deep, saturated brown, close to black, broken by lighter lines running top to bottom. the form carries a double swing, and the lines fall irregularly across it — dissonant, fleeting, alive. the surface shifts with the light. each piece is built by hand and signed by the maker — one of one. glazed inside and fired at 1220 °c, watertight and suitable for fresh flowers. small variations in colour and surface are part of it.
